Clifford Ellison Horton

Jan 7, 2018

$3 FOR FIRST 13 WEEKS

In remembrance: Ravalli obituaries published Dec. 1-14

HAMILTON – Cliff Horton, 89, of Hamilton, passed away Jan. 5, 2018, at the Marcus Daly Hospice. Cliff is survived by his wife Bennielee and their three children Debbie Newcomb, Dale (Jody) Horton, and Gayle (Jim) Cook. Cliff was especially proud of his six grandsons. He is also survived by ten great grandchildren.

Cliff grew up working with his father on a citrus orchard in Escondido, California, where they formed a warm and abiding bond. He served two tours in the army including 18 months with the occupational forces in South Korea. He lived and worked in San Diego County for 57 years before moving to Montana. Cliff found living in Montana exciting and satisfying.

Devotion and responsibility to his family were at the core of who he was. His family never had reason to doubt his love. He enjoyed fishing, especially if a motor was involved. In fact, he enjoyed almost anything with a motor whether it was a boat motor, tractor, or the truck that was pulling a camp trailer. One of his passions during his early family years was camping vacations that took the family all over the western states. He was a member of the Canyon View Church and enjoyed his many friends there.

A celebration of life event will be held Friday, Jan. 12, at 3 p.m., at the Daly-Leach Memorial Chapel, 1010 W. Main St., Hamilton. In lieu of gifts of flowers the family suggests donations to the Marcus Daly Hospice.

of

Bucks County, Pennsylvania

Compiled

by

J. Edward Day

In her excellent genealogical novel, The Winthrop Woman, Anya Seton makes this statement:

"It has startled me that our early emigrant ancestors are so often treated as though they arrived full-blown from a mysterious 'across the sea,' and suddenly turned into 'Yankees.'"

Unfortunately there is as yet no alternative to this approach in the case of Christopher Day. He first appears on the records so far uncovered as a landowner in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, in 1708. He probably arrived there not long before that and was quite possibly a Baptist from Wales fleeing from the religious persecutions of that time and place.

Intensive efforts to trace his origins have been made, principally by Miss Marion Day Mullins, 2306 Park Place, Fort Worth 10, Texas, and by Mrs. Sylvia Welch, 504 N. E. 23rd Avenue, Fort Lauderdale, Florida. I have tried too, and will keep trying. The information on the early generations listed herein has been supplied to me by Miss Mullins and Mrs. Welch, and I am indebted to them.

The following appears in Davis' History of Bucks County Pennsylvania (1876) in the chapter on Plumstead Township:

"In 1708 Clement and Thomas Dungan sold fifty acres to Christopher Day, who passed his life in Plumstead, and died in 1748. Day was a considerable landowner....."

This chapter also mentions an Arthur Day and a Richard Day as landowners in Plumstead at this same time. It has not been possible to trace a connection.

Proceedings of the Bucks County, Penna. Historical Society, Volume I, page 311, after describing the graveyard in

Plumstead Township, set up pursuant to the will of Christopher Day, in which he, Christopher Day Jr., and others are buried, states:

"A tradition is handed down that the early Welch Baptists of New Britain buried their dead in this graveyard until they organized a church of their own."

"Place Names in Bucks County, Penna." by MacReynolds (1955), page 309, states:

"First settlers of Plumstead included the Brown, Dyer, Doan, Shaw, Michiner, Child, Day, Huber, Carlisle, Dunlap, Rogers and Grier families. The pioneer English Quakers were soon followed by Scotch and Irish settlers, and lastly by Germans, mostly Mennonites."

Penna. Archives, 2nd Series, Vol. XIV, Bucks County Militia in the Revolution, shows on page 235:

"Non-associators in Plumstead Township, August 21, 1775

- - - Christopher Day - - - Meshuk Mitchener, Berak Mitchener, George Mitchener, Melen Mitchener - - - John Dyer - - -." (Note: this was presumably the original Christopher's grandson; "non-associators" were presumably people who did not join the militia, perhaps for religious reasons; Alice Day, daughter of Christopher Day, Jr., married Barack Michiner.)

A History of the Montgomery County Baptist Church (county adjacent to Bucks in Penna.) by Edward Matthews (1895) states on page 11:

"1741, Aug. 8 - Baptized Joseph Day and Dorothy, his wife."

The New Britain Baptist Church seceded from this church in 1754. Joseph Day was a son of Christopher Day, #2000.

Bound, typed "Records of the Courts of Quarter Sessions and Common Pleas of Bucks County, 1700-1730" in the Bucks County Historical Society, contain six references to Christopher Day: as "jur," rather than the more frequent "aff" (for Quakers who "affirmed" rather than being sworn in as jurors ???) at an inquest, as overseer of poor, as being elected assessor in 1730, etc.

In Mathew's "Township History of Bucks County" (typed, bound, 1946 - in Bucks County Historical Society) the following items appear:

Vol. III, page 26: Abigail Day, daughter of Joseph Day, married, first, William Thomas, son of a Baptist minister, and soon after he died in 1764, married Philip Bitting.

Vol. III, page 95, there is a reference to a Christopher Day as administrator of the estate of Joseph Pool in 1848.

Vol. II, page 53, shows that Mathew Day (presumably the original Christopher's oldest son) owned land in Doylestown Township in 1756.

Marriage Certificates, Vol. VII, bound volume in Bucks County Historical Society, shows that Christopher Day was a witness at a Quaker wedding March 17, 1722.

Proceedings, Bucks County Historical Society, Vol. II, page 573, states:

"During the summer of 1848 the entire road (Buckingham and Doylestown Turnpike) was finished and C. Day first received toll at Pool's corner August 5."

The will of Christopher Day, dated September 1, 1746, and proved March 25, 1748, in Bucks County, is included herein as appendix "A."

Christopher's son, Nathaniel Day (#3000) apparently left Bucks County in the early 1750's, fought in the French and Indian War in northern Virginia, and died there. Nathaniel's children moved on south to what is now Pocahontas County, West Virginia, and settled in an area then and now known as Little Levels. They were apparently there as early as 1766.

John Day (#4000) served in the Revolution and in 1833, at the age of 91, filed an application for a United States Government pension. This revealing document, included herein as appendix "B," is on file in the National Archives as "Military Pension and Bounty Land Files, Portions of the pension and bounty land file, S 3252 BL Reg. 335 101-55 of John Day, Revolutionary War (RG 15A)." It includes the supporting affidavit of his son, John Day, Jr. (#5001).

The names of the descendants are listed with serial numbers corresponding to the generation: the 1000 series is reserved for the father of Christopher Day; Christopher himself is number 2000; his children have numbers in the 3000 series; his grandchildren in the 4000 series; etc. The order of the numbers within a series has no significance since they were assigned as the names were obtained.

So far as I know this is the first systematic collection of the names of the descendants of Levi Day (#5000), a great grandson of Christopher. The other lines are less complete in this listing.

Any additions or corections will be much appreciated.

Consent Form: Biobank research study

Colorado Center for Personalized Medicine (CCPM), 13001 E. 17th Place, F563, Aurora CO. 80045.
Principal Investigator: Kathleen C. Barnes, Ph.D.
Biobank staff can be reached at 303-724-9944.

Purpose of the Study

We are asking you to participate in the Biobank research study. The study is part of the Colorado Center for Personalized Medicine (CCPM) at the University of Colorado. The purpose of this study is to collect and store biological samples, conduct research on those samples, collect and store medical information, and make the samples and data available for future research. Researchers will use the data and samples to learn how differences among people, such as in their genetic information, affect health, and risk of disease.

Participation in the Biobank research study is completely up to you. If you decide not to participate, your decision will not affect your health care in any way. Your alternative is not to participate in the study.

Please read this document carefully before you decide whether to take part in the Biobank study.

If you join the Biobank, you are giving us permission to:

- Collect biological samples from you. Biological samples can include blood, other bodily fluids, and leftover tissue.
- Process the biological samples to collect information about your genetic makeup and to analyze your genetic ancestry.
- Use information from your medical record.
- Make that information and your biological samples available for future research.

The primary benefit of the study is to help future research into the causes of health and the risk of disease. The primary risk is concerns from finding out something medically relevant about yourself.

What is Genetic Research?

Genetic research means we will study your genetic information. DNA contains your unique genetic information. We will get your DNA from your biological sample. DNA makes up the genes that serve as the "instruction book" for the cells in your body and determines what color skin, hair, and eyes you have, and influences health and disease. When we do genetic research, we may only look at small parts of your DNA, or we may look at all of your genetic information, known as your genome.

Who Can Take Part?

This study is open to all people aged 18 or over who can consent for themselves.

Study Procedures

Biological sample collection

We will collect biological samples from you to store in the Biobank. There are a number of possible ways we may collect samples from you. We may collect samples in any of the following ways:

- At a future visit when you are already having blood drawn for your clinical care, an extra 1-2 tubes (1-2 tablespoons) of blood will be taken from you for the Biobank. You will not need to have an extra needle stick.
- A research blood sample from you just for this research program, even if your doctor or other healthcare professional has not ordered a clinical blood test. In this case, we will get blood by putting a needle into one of your veins and let the blood flow into a tube.

- Leftover biological samples from any of your clinical tests or procedures ordered by your doctor or other healthcare professional.

Health Information

Researchers will periodically collect information from your medical records. This information could include

- What illnesses and treatments you have had and how well the treatments have worked,
- Results from x-rays or laboratory tests,
- Billing information, and,
- Information in your records from sources outside of our hospitals.

Research

A portion of your biological sample will be analyzed to collect some genetic information. Your health information will be linked to your biological sample and your genetic information. All of this information will be stored so that it is available for future research. Types of research that may be done include looking for medically important differences in people and finding information on genetic ancestry. We may also do additional analysis of your biological specimen, such as examining your body's cellular processes.

Researchers who are not part of the Biobank will have to ask for permission from the Biobank to study any of the biological samples or any of the medical or genetic information we collect from you. Some researchers may work at other hospitals, universities, government institutions, or at drug- or health-related companies. Researchers who are not part of the Biobank will not have access to information that can directly identify you, such as your name, address, or medical record number. The Biobank will ask for any research findings to be given to us so that if possible, they can be available for additional research.

We may share the data generated from future research with other researchers or databases, such as those sponsored by the National Institutes of Health (NIH). One such database is called dbGaP, which collects data from genetic research. By broadly sharing results in databases like dbGaP, we hope to help additional researchers to conduct more research on more health conditions. Information which directly identifies you will not be sent to these databases.

Re-contact

We may contact you again for a number of reasons including to:

- Ask for your signed permission to talk with you about something we have learned about your sample that might be medically relevant. If you give this additional permission, and we discover information that is of significant medical importance, we will share this information with you. We cannot guarantee that we will find such information to give to you;
- Ask for your signed permission to share individual research results with you, such as information about your genetic ancestry;
- Ask for more samples or information;
- Update you about the Biobank research study; or
- Invite you to take part in other research studies.

Potential Benefits

Most likely, there will be no direct benefit to you for participating in the Biobank clinical research study. We hope that the information and samples in the Biobank will help researchers learn more about how differences in individuals contribute to health and disease. We hope that the researchers will find better ways to predict, prevent, diagnose, or treat disease in the future.

Potential Risks and Discomforts

Privacy and confidentiality

Through all stages of sample and data collection, storage, sharing, and analysis, your privacy and confidentiality will be protected. All information and samples used by this study will be protected using secure computers and systems, and locked files, so that only authorized people can access it. There is a very small risk in any effort like this of a breach in security systems. Because some information such as your genetic information is unique to you, there is a small chance that someone could trace it back to you. The risk of this happening is very small.

To help us protect your privacy, we have obtained a legal document called a Certificate of Confidentiality. The Certificate of Confidentiality helps us to protect your information from most subpoenas or other legal demands. These protections apply only to your research records. The protections do not apply to your medical/health records at any participating hospital. With your permission, your samples, data and health information can still be shared for purposes you agree to, such as with other researchers for research purposes.

Blood Collection

If you give a blood sample for the Biobank there is a small risk of pain, bleeding, bruising, or infection at the needle site, or in rare cases, fainting. Should you have any discomfort during the blood sample collection, please inform the staff member performing the procedure.

Genetic information

Federal and State laws provide some protections against discrimination based on genetic information. For example, the Genetic Information Non-discrimination Act (GINA) makes it illegal for health insurance companies, group health plans, and most employers to discriminate against you based on your genetic information. However, it does not prevent companies that sell life insurance, disability insurance, or long-term care insurance from using genetic information as a reason to deny coverage or set premiums.

Unknown risks

There may be unknown risks, stresses, or discomforts to you that we do not know about. There may also be unknown risks to groups of individuals like yourself.

Will I be paid to be in the study?

You will not receive payment for being part of this study and you will not have to pay anything to be in this study.

How long will my samples and health information be stored?

If you decide to be in this study, there is no limit on the length of time we will store your samples and health information.

We may keep using them for research unless you decide to stop participating or we close the Biobank.

What safeguards are in place for use of research information?

Researchers will be granted access to samples, health information and coded genetic information only if they meet all ethical, scientific, and regulatory criteria for approval by the University of Colorado Denver and other overseeing agencies and institutions.

Who will see my research information?

The University of Colorado Denver and its affiliated hospital(s) have rules to protect information about you. Federal and state laws including the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) also protect your privacy. The institutions involved in this study that may collect, see, or use your information include: The University of Colorado Denver and University of Colorado Health. We cannot do this study without your permission to see, use, and give out your information. If you do not give us this permission, then you may not join this study.

We will see, use, and disclose your information only as described in this form and in our Notice of Privacy Practices; however, people outside the University of Colorado Denver and its affiliate hospitals may not be covered by this obligation. We will do everything we can to maintain the confidentiality of your personal information but confidentiality cannot be guaranteed.

The use and disclosure of your information has no time limit. You can cancel your permission to use your sample(s) and information at any time by writing to the study's Principal Investigator (PI), at the name and address listed below.

Dr. Kathleen C. Barnes, PhD: Colorado Center for Personalized Medicine, 13001 E. 17th Place, F563, Aurora CO 80045.

If you do cancel your permission for us to use your sample(s) and information, your part in this study will end and no further information about you will be collected. Your cancellation would not affect information already used for research purposes. Any of your research samples in the Biobank will be destroyed.

Both the research records that identify you and the consent form signed by you may be looked at by others who have a legal right to see that information, such as: 1) federal offices such as the Office of Human Research Protections that protect research subjects like you and 2) the Colorado Multiple Institutional Review Board (COMIRB), the Biobank study team, and officials at the University of Colorado Health hospitals.

Information about you that will be seen, collected, used, and disclosed in this study:

- Name and Demographic Information (age, sex, ethnicity, address, phone number, etc.)
- Portions of your previous, current, and future Medical Records that are relevant to this study, including but not limited to Diagnosis(es), History and Physical, laboratory or tissue studies, radiology studies, procedure results
- Research Visit and Research Test records
- Biological samples and the data with the samples.

Scientists at the University of Colorado Denver and the hospitals involved in this study work to find the causes and cures of disease. The data, tissue, blood, and other samples collected from you during this study are important to this study and to future research. If you join this study:

- The data and biological samples given by you to the investigators for this research no longer belong to you.
- Both the investigators and any sponsor of this research may study your data or biological samples.
- If data, tissue, blood, or other samples are in a form that identifies you, University of Colorado Denver or the hospitals involved in this study may use them for future research only with your consent or Institutional Review Board (IRB) approval.
- Any product or idea created by the researchers working on this study will not belong to you.
- Biological samples may be used for commercial profit in partnership with other organizations. You will not share in any financial benefit from the creation, use, or sale of such a product or idea. One example of a commercial product is a cell line.

How will you keep me informed about the Biobank study and the Colorado Center for Personalized Medicine?

As we collect more biological samples, we plan to provide information to you on the progress of the Biobank, the work of the Colorado Center for Personalized Medicine (CCPM), and our research findings through news articles, brochures, and our website centerforpersonalizedmedicine.org.

What if I have questions?

If you have any questions about this study, please call the Biobank at 303-724-9944 or email us at ccpmbiobank@ucdenver.edu.

If you have questions about your rights as a research subject or the conduct of this study, please contact the Colorado Multiple Institutional Review Board (COMIRB) at 303-724-1055.

Agreement to be in this study and use my data

I have read this information about the study or it was read to me. I understand the possible risks and benefits of this study. I understand and authorize the access, use, and disclosure of my information as stated in this form. I know that being in this study is voluntary. I choose to be in this study:

WMTV News 3 (Fox 35) News, Monday, January 22, 2019 - 12:02 PM

MONTGOMERY, N.C. (WMTV) — Two men were arrested after allegedly breaking into multiple cars over the weekend in Montgomery County.

Police said Detective Sgt. 24 and Steven Hughes, 27, both of Montgomery, were found walking in the middle of the street in the area where they received reports of car break-ins Sunday morning shortly before 3 a.m.

"When the officers approached the suspects, they were sneaking profusely and did not want to provide false names to the officers," officials said in a press release Monday.

Montgomery Police Chief, Christopher, says the duo was experienced, checking doors nearby after.

"They had a routine. They had a vehicle that they'd drive into the neighborhood and then they'd be on foot. Walk through the neighborhood and open the car doors," said Preston.

Police said they found cars on Thomas Drive, Webster Avenue, Spencer Avenue, Shattuck Village and Glendora that were broken into by Wright and Hughes.

Residents speak out after arrests made in multiple car break-ins

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. (WDTV) -- Two men were arrested after allegedly breaking into multiple cars over the weekend in Monongalia County.

Police said Joshua Bright, 24, and Steven Hughes, 27, both of Morgantown, were found walking in the middle of the street in the area where they received reports of car break-ins Sunday morning shortly before 3 a.m.

"When the officers approached the suspects, they were sweating profusely and attempted to provide false names to the officers," officials said in a press release Monday.

Morgantown Police Chief, Ed Preston, says the duo was experienced, checking doors one-by-one.

"They had a routine. They had a vehicle that they'd drive into the neighborhood and then they'd be on foot. Walk through the neighborhood and check the car doors," said Preston.

Police said they found cars on Theresa Drive, Webster Avenue, Spencer Avenue, Bluegrass Village and Gleaser that were broken into by Bright and Hughes.

The pair allegedly stole wallets, GPS systems, clothing, garage door openers and more.

"If you forget to lock your car, you have to worry that somebody's going to get in there and steal something," said Rebecca Beets, who lives in Bluegrass Village.

Beets says this isn't the first time her neighborhood was a target.

"Sometime back, there were like 19 break-ins in one night. In fact, one of our neighbors had his laptop in his car that was stolen," said Beets.

Another resident says in case someone would want something from his truck, he leaves it unlocked.

"If I keep stuff in there, and they see it, they're going to break a window out to get in the truck. I just leave the truck unlocked so they won't break a window," said Edgar McKinney.

Police said most of the stolen items were returned to their rightful owners except for a wallet and "a number of miscellaneous items," that are currently at the Morgantown Police Department awaiting return to their owners.

"It makes you uncomfortable," said Beets.

"It makes me feel like I gotta keep my pistol loaded," said McKinney.

Bright was charged with possession of controlled substance marijuana and methamphetamine, concealing stolen property, and auto tampering.

Hughes faces a charge of possession of controlled substances. Police said additional charges are possible.

Hi Willielee,

This is your cousin Toni Kee. My great grandmother was Lula Massey Jones, your Sarah Jane Massey Littlepage's sister. We have spoken before and I believe you are the one who sent me a photo of Sara holding a baby. She was wearing a striped dress and I sent you a photo of what I thought was Lula as a young girl wearing a dress made of the same material. I have some new photos that were sent to me by a Johnson cousin of ours. My email address is tkee@click1.net. Email me so I have your email and I will send you the photos. As always please don't post them on Ancestry.

Toni

Hi Toni, Forgive me for being so late in answering I have been ill and wasn't on my computer much. I'd love the photo's. Thank you. E-mail address is miscwilli@a.com. Thank you so much Willielee.
